

PHIL 311: Philosophy and Literature

This course examines philosophical viewpoints as manifested within selected literary texts. The relationship between the literary form of the text and the philosophical content, as well as the relationship between philosophy and literature, will be explored and conceptualized.

Units: 3

Prerequisites:

Any previous philosophy course.

Program: Philosophy