

CARTS 210: Music Composition II: The Next Step

This course is designed to serve students with some experience composing music, who want to further develop their abilities and explore new approaches to creating new music. Class meetings will consist of weekly seminars, in which various contemporary approaches to composition will be explored, followed by individual lessons, to support each student's pursuit her/his own interests.

Units: 3

Prerequisites:

Instructor Consent

Program: Music Composition